Presentation note

In this press release, INE presents a new base year (2015=100) of the Industrial Production Index with backward data since January 2005. These new series replace the previous ones, based on 2010=100.

There were several improvements introduced in the new series which explain the revisions in the indices compared to the previous ones. The results are based on a new sample of corporations and the weighting structure was updated to reflect 2015 data.
